

CHITOWN CHEETAH GAZETTE

BROUGHT TO YOU BY THOMAS TARULLI SPORTS MARKETING

BECOME A CLIENT!

WE OUTWORK EVERYONE!

Tips from TTSM:

Make sure you have good communication with coaches!

Present your self like a player on the field; if you look good, you play good!

THINGS TO REMEMBER

SENIORS!!!**

Make sure you are registered for the NCAA clearinghouse!

 September is a very busy time for college coaches. Be persistent but patient with your process, stay diligent with your letters and your correspondence and good things will come! Remember, just like YOU....college coaches are embracing on a new school year as well!

BE PATIENT!

Make sure you are getting your extra work in OUTSIDE of practice. Adjustments don't happen overnight, it takes hard work for them to set in

"Nothing worth having comes easy"

Welcome to our new Cheetah families and welcome back veterans!

WE ARE PUMPED AND LOOKING FORWARD TO AN EXCITING SEASON FULL OF CHAMPIONSHIPS!

JACKIE'S CORNER

How To Get A Coaches Attention

A common misconception among young athletes: How I look doesn't matter, its just about how I play.

While this is true, your actions on the field are important, but how you look also plays a role as well. I can't tell you how many times I watched softball games and became disappointed because young athletes didn't take pride in the way they looked on the field. In fact, I have walked away from games because I just couldn't stand to watch them play looking so disheveled.

The first thing that will attract a coach is the way you carry yourself on the field. The way you wear your hair, if your jersey tucked in, are you pants rolled, do you look presentable? Then secondary, are you wearing wristbands or a headband (a headband that matches your team colors!!!!) to set herself a part? Often times, we can forget that currently, you are trying to get recruited and everything you do is under a microscope!! The way you look is just the start of it.

Getting a coaches attention isn't just based upon looks, as I mentioned before your play and athletic ability will also play a part in that. However, there is another way to catch a coaches attention. Being vocal on the field can be a game changer for coaches. If a coach comes to watch you play and you've said nothing the entire game, you have done nothing to set yourself a part of be engaged in a way that you will need to be in college...be very aware... coach are looking for this! They are looking for kids who are ready every play, moving every play, talking to their pitcher or other infield/outfielders letting them know their positioning on the field. Coaches look for people who are going to be role players, people who buy in to what they are saying, showing that you are know what you are doing and know the game, will show that you care and you actually WANT TO BE THERE!

Lastly, academics! This may not seem like something that will get a coaches attention, but if you are sound academically, there are many things a coach can draw from you having a good GPA and/or good test scores:

- 1- they know you will not be a risk on their team in regard to being NCAA Eligibility and lowering the team GPA
- 2- they know you will get your schoolwork done on time even with travel
- 3- there could be the possibility for academic money which will be more enticing for them since they won't have to give you as much athletic money

THIS BEING SAID... WORK HARD ON YOUR GRADES; IT IS AN INTEGRAL PART OF THIS PROCESS!

Most importantly, have some pride! Take pride in how you present yourself on the field and in the uniform you wear and the grades you keep! It is a reflection of the program you play for as well as yourself...just like when you go to college and put your uniform on for the first time, that uniform will represent much more then just a piece of clothing with your number on it. It will represent the handwork and dedication you put in just to wear it. You play for the name on the front of your jersey more then the one on the back, remember that!!

Jackie

If you have questions of your own you would like answered, please email Jackie@ttsmevents.com

Good luck to our 2015 and 2016 graduated Cheetah's competing in college this fall

Nicole Bowman | Rutgers University
Anyssa Iliopoulos | Rutgers University
Zoe Dannenberg | Bellarmine College
Sarah Hanson | Ball State University
Mary Iliopoulos | Aquinas College
Alex Laphen | Benedictine University
Alexxis Lux | Saint Xavier University

Mackenzie Sancken | University of Northern Iowa

Alyssa Sciafani | Loyola University

Annalisse Scott | Saint Xavier University

Katie Krzus (sophomore) | Georgia Tech

Jennifer Ames(sophomore) | Eastern Illinois university

Sabrina Kuchta (Junior) | DePaul

Alysia Rodriguez(sophomore) | DePaul

Morgan Greenwood(sophomore) | DePaul

Simone Caroll | North Park

Maddie Sherwood | Carlton

Val Perelli | Elmhurst college

Maggie Stimac | University of Minnesota-Daluth

UPCOMING COLLEGE CAMPS IN YOUR AREA

Valparaiso
October 8th

University of Chicago

University of Illinois-Champaign

October 10th and December 3rd
(Mini camps are available, please check the website)

Loyola University
Pitching and hitting academies starting in

Southern Illinois-Edwardsville
December 3rd (elite camp)

Ball State
January 17th

WHERE TTSM WILL BE THIS FALL:

TEAM NEW JERSEY
TOMMY T & JACKIE

DIAMOND 9-ORLANDO
TOMMY T & JACKIE

EARLY THANKSGIVING
TOMMY T

TTSM 2ND ANNUAL PRE-CHRISTMAS CAMP

DECEMBER 17th

For more information about our camp or to register, please visit:

ttsmeventprechristmascamp.

eventbrite.com